DATA AND REMARKS

Siegfried Zoglmann, a chief editor, was born August 17, 1913 in Neumark/Boehmerwald. He now resides in Duesseldorf at Cecilienallee 32.

Zoglmann became active in Sudeten German youth affairs after 1928, was a Hitler youth leader from 1934 on and joined the NSDAP in 1939. He served in the armed forces during World War II.

A journalist and editor by training and experience, he was Executive Secretary of the Nordwestdeutsche Zeitungs- und Zeitschriftenverlags-G.m.b.H., an FDP business enterprise publishing the weekly papers Der Fortschritt and Die Deutsche Zukunft until October 1957. He was at the same time the editor-in-chief of these virtually identical papers. Since October 1957, Zoglmann has been the head of the publishing company and de facto sole publisher.

He was elected to the NRW Landtag on July 13, 1954 on the FDP Land list on which he held the sixteenth position.

On September 15, 1957, he was elected a Bundestag Deputy from the NRW FDP Reserve list on which he held the eight position.
